About the Author

Roger B. Rowland was a founding member of the Sheridan Historical Society. He took a break from the Society for a few years. In 2000, he returned as an active member of the Society. He currently serves as the Secretary/Treasurer of the Society.

In 2001 he undertook his first research project for the Society by creating the historic listing of city officials. It was a challenging task because of the lost and damaged city records from the 1965 Platte River Flood. Each name had to be researched from individual City Council minutes covering a period of almost forty years.

This history represents his eleventh major project for the Society and represents several days of research and writing.

He grew up in Sheridan and attended Sheridan schools. He graduated from Sheridan High School in 1973. He has served on the City Planning Commission and as Mayor from August, 1983 through December, 1989.

Dedication

This history is dedicated to all the faculty and staff that have served at Alice Terry Elementary School.

History of Alice Terry Elementary School

Alice Terry Elementary School was built in 1958 to manage the growth from housing construction in the town of Sheridan that was caused by Martin Marietta. The school was named after Alice Bodine Terry, born in 1899 and became a teacher and later principal at Fort Logan School.

The Beginning Chapter 1

Three Elementary Districts

Before there was a Sheridan High School, there were three elementary school districts. Petersburg was the first school in the Sheridan area and built in 1892. Petersburg was organized as a school district in 1909. A fire in 1927 burned the original building and a new one was built. In 1923, a separate district from Petersburg was opened, creating Fort Logan school. College View split off from Fort Logan and their district was created in 1941.

The neighboring school districts of Littleton were created in 1889 and Englewood in 1916. Until the late 1940's Englewood High School served Sheridan and College View students. The Colorado population boomed after World War II especially in the areas around Denver. Englewood was expanding from several annexations and the schools experienced tremendous growth in their student populations. Several local newspaper articles from the area focused on the overcrowding of the schools. In the 1950 census, Englewood was listed as the sixth largest city in the state of Colorado.

Fort Logan District 75

Fort Logan School was originally established as its own school district, serving a much larger area than today. Children of farmers and workers associated with the Fort were served. Students walked to school or were brought by their families as no school transportation was provided. Farm fields were to the east of the building on Knox Court as seen in old photos. An irrigation ditch ran just east of the school and separated the playing field from the building. This ditch was filled during the 1970s. The oldest part of the school was built in 1923 with the cornerstone being dedicated on July 3, 1923.

The 1923 structure had two stories with the classrooms being on the second floor. Elementary and middle grades were combined into four rooms for teaching. There were two grades in each room. Each grade consisted of 9 to 11 students. The lower floor rooms housed the mechanical workings and the kitchen. During the seventy fifth anniversary, a few of the guests present remembered the old structure, having attended classes there. By 1931 each grade consisted of 20 to 25 students and were placed in separate classrooms, by the 1950s some grade levels had five classrooms.

Four barracks were brought in from Fort Logan grounds and bricked over to make eight additional classrooms which enlarged the school in 1947. Parents and community members did most of the work. In 1952 five rooms were added followed by two more rooms in 1956. The large cafeteria was also added in 1957.

The Fort Logan school district originally served the area bounded by Jewell Avenue on the north, Sheridan Boulevard on the west, Bellevue Avenue on the south, and Santa Fe Drive on the east. The area for Petersburg Elementary was excluded from the original Fort Logan school district.

Impact of Martin Marietta

In 1955 the Martin Company announced it was coming to the Denver area. This spurred new housing subdivisions in Sheridan and Englewood adding many new students to the school district. The growth provided the impetus for further housing construction in the district west of Federal. To meet the needs of the growing district in 1958 the district built Alice B. Terry Elementary School at Irving Street and Radcliff Avenue.

School Construction

The original land for Alice Terry Elementary was purchased by Fred Comstock on August 20, 1881. Back in the 1860's people had the opportunity to homestead on land in Colorado. Over half of the land of Sheridan was homesteaded between 1865 and 1876. Others opted to purchase the land outright from the federal government such as Mr. Comstock. The land was used for farming.

Fort Logan School had completed several additions in 1940, 1943, 1951, and 1954. In the late fifties it seemed more sensible to build a new school for the growing student population. In February 1958, Fort Logan District 75 bought the seven acres of land on South Irving Street for the new school from Ben F. Griffin and Charles Hilgers in the amount of $23,000.

The construction cost of the original building was $246,538. The building included fourteen classrooms built on two corridors. Victor Hornbein was the architect and had completed several other projects for the district. Construction began in March of 1958 and the dedication was held on September 14, 1958. The school was designated to serve the area south of Oxford while Fort Logan Elementary served the area north of Oxford. The school was named after Alice Terry who had been a teacher and principal in the district for twenty-nine years.

Impact of 1962 Denver Annexation

In February 1962, the city of Denver adopted an ordinance annexing the College View area. College View Elementary School District was one of the three districts which made up Sheridan Union School District #2. The other two districts were Fort Logan and Petersburg. The annexation had a devastating effect on the Union school district for which the Fort Logan District was a part.

The loss of College View would result in an election for the creation of the new Sheridan School District No. 2. The election resulted in the consolidation of the elementary and union districts. The election was held on December 4, 1962 replacing the Union District. The district board of three members was replaced with a new district board of five members.

Alice Terry Elementary, Fort Logan School (which included Kindergarten through eighth grade), Petersburg Elementary, and Sheridan Union High School would all become part of the new Sheridan School District No. 2.

Sheridan School District No. 2

Chapter 2

Becoming part of the Sheridan School District

Alice Terry Elementary became part of the new Sheridan School District No. 2 from the consolidation of the elementary and union districts because of the election held on December 4, 1962.

Closing of Petersburg

In 1974, Sheridan School District No. 2 closed Petersburg Elementary school. The reason, says Jim Taylor, is there were, "terrible conditions for the kids to learn over there, with the trains going by every hour and the traffic sounds." School officials retrieved the materials from the cornerstone and created a display at the administration offices located at Ora Oliver.

The loss of residences in the 1965 flood and a decrease in student population contributed to the decision to close the school. Students previously served by Petersburg were transferred to the other elementary schools in the district including Fort Logan, Ora Oliver, and Alice Terry.

Changing Demographics

The eighties brought the backside of the Martin Marietta Company boom from the fifties. Most of the children from the late fifties and early sixties were now graduating. Their parents were becoming empty nesters, and they were not being replaced with new students. Student demographics were also changing along with the culture in the community. This was the beginning of "Generation X." Single parent homes increased along with an influx of latch key kids. Also during the early eighties there was a lot of turnover in teachers.

During the 1970s, minorities comprised about ten percent of the community. This demographic started to change in the 1990s. By 2010, Hispanics and other minorities would represent fifty-five percent of the community.

This demographic shift was another impact of the Martin Marietta boom and bust cycle. Parents of students from the 1970s and 1980s were retiring and moving out of the community. The community saw a population increase of about fifteen percent from 1990 to 2000. This population shift was comprised mostly of Hispanics and other minorities. However, the next decade would bring declining enrollment as an issue for the entire school district.

Open Enrollment

In 1990, Governor Roy Romer signed the Public Schools of Choice Act into law allowing students to attend schools of their choice, even if they lived in another district. During the early 2000's Sheridan felt the impact of the law. There was an influx of students from Denver. This was a spillover response from the end of desegregation in Denver in 1997 and the phenomenon of “Resegregation, Latino Style.” [See bibliography: “Denver Public Schools: Resegregation, Latino Style”]

Many of the new students from Denver were Hispanics and English was not the primary language in their home. Sheridan already had ESL [English as Second Language] teachers in place for years.

The influx of students from Denver had a secondary adverse impact on the Sheridan School District. Students of more affluent families in Sheridan began enrolling in the adjacent Littleton school district. The loss persists to this day, as Hispanics now represent 87% of student population within the school district.

Lowrie Contribution

Problems with funding to make improvements to schools in the Sheridan School District have existed since the beginning. In 2000 Troy Lowrie, the owner of several adult nightclubs in the Denver area including one in the city of Sheridan, contributed $139,000 to the school district. Because of the business background of Troy Lowrie, this contribution became extremely controversial.

Principal Annie Willis called Lowrie “a gentleman who wants his children, ages 3 to 5, to see that ‘you give back to your community.’” “Several community fund-raisers brought in $32,000. Arapahoe County awarded $43,000 in federal grant money. But it was the gift from the Lowrie Family Foundation that put the project nearly over the top” Willis said.

Records show the school board approved $234,220 for the Alice Terry Safe Child Project. The funding for this project came from three sources: Lowrie Family Foundation ($139,000.00), Community Development Block Grant ($41,785), and the Alice Terry Parent Organization ($23,180).

The money was used for renovations to the front of Alice Terry school, the visitor parking area, and a redesigned drop off area for parents at the school entrance. This redesigned area was significant when a first grader was abducted from the front of the school two years earlier, “while her mother watched helplessly across the street. The girl was returned home two hours later.”

Bond Election of 2006

In 2006 a bond election was approved for the improvement of facilities in the district. The proceeds from the bond went to removing all the temporary trailer classrooms across the district including those located at Alice Terry Elementary. Replacing and retrofitting the heating and cooling systems including Alice Terry. Converting the existing gymnasium/cafeteria into a permanent cafeteria and constructing a new gymnasium addition at Alice Terry.

No comments were provided opposing the bond issue. There were two bond issues for the school district for this election. The first was a mill levy override for improving faculty salaries in the amount of $1,000,000 which failed by only seven votes. On Issue 3A voting yes were 779 and voting no were 786. The second issue 3B for improving school facilities in the amount of $12,865,000 incurred bond debt for improving facilities including Alice Terry passed with 824 voting yes and 729 voting no.

School Uniforms Kiboshed

In 2006 the idea of elementary school uniforms was considered by the district and the board. “It was noted by the Board of Education that they were not at a place where they could approve the recommendation for uniforms for the elementary schools. They were concerned about the cost to parents and the fact that the district was too small for parents to have a choice to send their children to a school not requiring uniforms. They stated that they were not sure it was a right direction to take and felt there was no solid support.” The idea never came up again.

The Dreaded “Accountability Clock”

In 2009, Colorado’s legislature passed the “Education Accountability Act” that created a system to hold the state, school districts, and schools accountable for student academic performance on specific indicators and measures, including performance and growth on state tests and graduation rates. Every year, schools and districts receive performance ratings.

Those that do not meet expectations are assigned a rating on the state’s “Accountability Clock.” Schools and districts can only receive these low ratings for five years in a row. After that, they are subject to any of the following “draconian” actions. 1. Grant innovation status to provide flexibility from certain state and local rules. 2. Require a district or charter school to replace its operator or governing board. 3. Require a district or school to work with an external management partner. 4. Convert a district run school into a charter school. 5. Close a school. 6. Initiate the district reorganization process.

In 2010 Alice Terry was tagged as a “turnaround plan” and moved to an improvement plan in 2012. In 2016 the school achieved a performance plan level and got off the accountability clock. It has remained on performance plan level through 2024.

Life Safety Improvements

In 2011 a matching grant was obtained from the state for safety improvements and remodeling projects. This $1,085,985 district wide project resulted in the remodeling of new double doors at the front entrance with new security features. It was at this time that all of the outside doors were equipped with electronic automatic lock devices.

Changes with Fort Logan Northgate

Fort Logan Northgate School opened in January, 2015. This is the newest school in Sheridan School District No. 2. A BEST (Building Excellent Schools Today) grant was obtained from the State of Colorado for construction of the school which began 2013. The cost of building Northgate and the improvements for the Early Childhood Center, which was relocated to the old

Middle School, totaled $29,501,939. The BEST grant share was $23,011,521. The school district bond portion was $6,490,426.

A decision was made to keep grades 3 through 5 from Fort Logan Elementary at Northgate rather than move them back to Alice Terry Elementary. Northgate housed grades 3 through 8 on two floors. With the opening of Northgate both Fort Logan Elementary and Ora Oliver schools were closed and demolished. The area where the Ora Oliver building was located was replaced by an artificial turf athletic field.

Declining Enrollment Continues

It was reported to the school board at their meeting on March 28, 2018 that enrollment in the district had declined by one hundred students. A survey had been done with those families where students had left the district. Some of the reasons included “access to better athletic programs, better programs for gifted and talented students, and perhaps more college and university scholarship options.” This was a repeat of the same budget problem that occurred in 2008.

Mill Levy Override Election of 2018

On September 11, 2018 Mr. Dallas Hall, Committee Chair for Citizens for Sheridan Students First, gave a brief update on the mill levy ballot issue 4B to the school board. The election was held on November 6, 2018.

Here was the text for ballot issue 4B for a General Fund Override.

Shall Sheridan School District No. 2 taxes be increased three million annually for basic educational purposes, which moneys shall be used to, among other things:

- improve safety and security infrastructure and operations to be able to maintain safer buildings for students and staff;
- repair leaking roofs and other district facilities and provide general maintenance in school buildings;
- improve and upgrade technology infrastructure and operations in schools to support 21st century learning opportunities and achievement for Sheridan students; and
- make salaries and wages of district personnel competitive with those of other school districts in the Denver metropolitan area, through a property tax override mill levy to be imposed at a rate sufficient to produce the amount set forth above, to be deposited into the general fund of the district, and to be in addition to the property taxes that otherwise would be levied for the general fund?

A pivotal argument for the proposal was that over a prior ten year period the state had underfunded the district by approximately fifteen million dollars and the mill levy override would help mitigate the loss to the district.

Sheridan School District voters approved the override measure with 1,365 (55.04%) voting yes and 1,115 (44.96%) voting no.

The override allowed the district to hire seven new Instructional Support Assistants for Alice Terry. It would turn out the addition of these people would be pivotal in helping the district overcome the fallout from the upcoming pandemic.

Pandemic

On Wednesday, March 11, 2020 it was announced that NBA player Rudy Gobert of the Utah Jazz tested positive for COVID-19. NBA games were immediately suspended. The domino effect was astounding and within a week all sports, on all levels, were cancelled across the country. Two days later all Colorado schools were closed with many more closures across the country to follow. Less than a week later all bars and dine in restaurants were closed in Colorado and across most of the country. Governor Polis issued the order to close all schools on March 18, 2020. On April 3, 2020 Sheridan Superintendent Pat Sandos announced that all Sheridan schools would be closed for the remainder of the school year.

In April, the school district sprang into action to implement remote instruction. Chromebooks were purchased and made available to all students along with portable Wi-Fi hotspots for each family. A couple of buses were equipped with Wi-Fi transmitters to help with the remote hotspots within the district. Arrangements were made to have lunch meals made available to students at pick up locations in the community.

On August 12 2020 Sheridan Superintendent Pat Sandos sent out a letter advising all parents and the community that one of Alice Terry's teachers had tested positive for covid. The teacher had been following all protocols including wearing a mask. The decision was made to continue remote learning into January of 2021.

On January 19, 2021, the school district provided the option of hybrid instruction in school or online at home at the option of the parents. Classrooms were set up for six foot distancing and free covid testing was offered. Faculty and staff were provided with free vaccines in partnership with Cherry Creek Schools and Centura Health.

Sheridan students returned to full in person learning on Wednesday, April 14 2021. The decision was reached following thorough discussions by two large committees of teachers, administrators, paraprofessionals, and staff. "Both groups were so positive, focused on kids and getting kids back in person," said Superintendent Sandos. Social distancing continued along with meals in the classrooms.

"This has been a rough year in so many ways. We're doing well in spite of what everyone has to face," said board president Bernadette Saleh, addressing Alice Terry Elementary principal Diego Romero. "I am really appreciative to you and everyone else for stepping up and making their (students') lives better." As restrictions were eased the state waived all accountability ratings for the school year.

The damage to the education of the students was apparent. A "Fifth Quarter" summer program was held from June 14 through July 9, Monday through Thursday. This intense learning program was designed to close gaps in learning by providing engaging and individualized instruction for students that had fallen behind.

Six of One or Half a Dozen the Other

Either way you look at the retirement of six Alice Terry teachers and staff in one year was significant. It was not known how much the pandemic may have played in the decision for these people to retire. You could not put a price tag on the experience and legacy lost.

In 2021 the following teachers and staff retired from Alice Terry. They included Karen Barbarian, Mary Mobley, Alice Smith, Sylvia Trujillo, Stacey Waechter, and Paula Wheeler. A combined 102 years of experience. But life and school goes on.

Adding Back Third through Fifth Grade

On March 15, 2005, the school board made the decision to restructure the grades between Alice Terry and Fort Logan Elementary School. Beginning in the fall of 2005 all students in grades three to five would be moved to Fort Logan Elementary and Alice Terry would only include students in kindergarten through second grades. The motion passed three yes and one no, with John Vaglianti voting no.

“Director Vaglianti noted that he was not in favor of this and felt very uncomfortable about the recommendation. He did not feel that all of the questions had been answered to his satisfaction. Director Vaglianti stated that he hoped that it would work for the district, the students, and the faculty.”

Part of the dilemma of the change was the loss of students from the second and third grades from the district. This was especially significant after Northgate was opened in 2015 and the third through fifth grades were put in the same building as the middle school students.

A new superintendent brought a fresh perspective on the mix of grades at Northgate and thought a review was needed. The first mention of a change of grades of three through five from Fort Logan Northgate to Alice Terry Elementary School occurred when Superintendent Gionni Thompon spoke to the school board on November 12, 2024. He mentioned that a task force was being created to study the idea.

The first meeting of the task force was held on December 18, 2024. A letter was sent out to the community by Superintendent Thompson on January 13, 2025 announcing a task force meeting at Fort Logan Northgate school on January 21, 2025 to which the public was invited.

The task force committee recommended transitioning one grade per year to Alice Terry over the next three years. The school board adopted the transition plan. The first year of the transition began in the fall of 2025 with grade three. The change will bring Alice Terry back to the more traditional elementary school format. Which was clearly meant to be when the school was built in 1958.

The Bicentennial Quilt

In 1976, elementary music teacher Dian Kingery came up with the idea for creating a bicentennial quilt. The quilt was designed to be a part of the country’s bicentennial celebration. Sixty individual squares were made by fourth and fifth grade Alice Terry students.

The quilt was stitched together by parents and grandparents of Alice Terry students. Several former students remember doing the embroidery work during Mrs. Kingery’s music class. The bicentennial quilt hung in the front hallway of Alice Terry for many years, then was moved to a wall in the cafeteria. The quilt was nearly lost in 2008. The quilt had been removed from the wall in the cafeteria. Adrian Vigil, a teacher at Alice Terry contacted Superintendent Michael Clough about saving the quilt. Superintendent Clough was adamant the quilt was to be retained because of its historical significance. Arrangements were made to save the quilt and mount it back on the cafeteria wall. This time it was permanently attached and protected by glass. Below is the quilt as it is currently on the east wall of the cafeteria at Alice Terry Elementary.

Alice Bodine Terry

Chapter 4

May 13, 1899 - August 12, 1976 (77)

Alice Emily [Emaline] Bodine was born on May 13, 1899 in Denver, Colorado, the daughter of Adolph (1866-1931) and Selma Bodine (nee Nelson [Nissen], 1868-1960). Selma was born in Sweden and immigrated to the United States when she was 16 years old. Adolph was also born in Sweden, but his immigration date is unknown. Adolph and Selma were married on May 23, 1891.

Alice was the fourth child of eight children, four boys and four girls. Her siblings were William, Aletha, and Hazel all of whom died in infancy. Alice was the fourth child followed by Frank, Josephine, Edward, and Arthur. Alice attended elementary school in Denver, Junior High in Los Angeles, and graduated from West High School in Denver on June 5, 1918. "Her greatest desire was to be a teacher." (Hidden Heroine, by Girl Scout Junior Troop II 177, Mountain Shadows, pg. 1)

She attended Greeley Teachers College (now the University of Northern Colorado) and graduated in 1924. Her studies included home economics, foreign language, geography, and science. She sang in a gospel quartet at the Teachers College and was in the science club. Her student teaching assignment was at Greeley High School. She later attended the University of Denver Graduate school.

Alice taught at Wyatt School near Ault in Weld County. She then taught at a one room school twenty-two (22) miles east of Pagosa Springs. "She had 22 students in grades one through eight. The students spoke Spanish at home. Alice said, 'This experience taught me what hardships and sorrow others have, and I am sure it made me kinder and more understanding than I was before.'" That was followed by another one room school near Byers. "Most of these children came to school on horses." Alice then moved to Fort Logan School in 1932. At Fort Logan, her first assignment was as a teacher for "a fifth and sixth grade combination." The subjects she taught included science, geography, health, and penmanship.

In 1937 Alice along with another teacher were put in charge of the summer school. In 1938 she became the principal of Fort Logan School, saying "this was the greatest challenge of her life." She was a generous and kind teacher who cared about her charges, bringing "food and clothing to school for the needy students. She personally tutored students who were having difficulty so they could keep up with their class."

She made arrangements with the local bus and cab companies to take the students to intramural sports activities with other schools and paid for this transportation herself. She was a harsh disciplinarian, but the students respected her and knew that she cared about them. She also chaperoned students on many field trips and other activities. Alice Terry was loved by the community. She served as the district "Coordinator" [an assistant to the superintendent, responsible for curriculum, class scheduling, book inventory and purchasing] "her final year" (1960-61). She was also a "Camp Fire Girls Guardian" (sponsor).

"Alice Bodine met Grant Terry on the street car as they were going to and from work." She married Grant G. Terry (1910-1996) "in the gymnasium at Fort Logan School in May 1947. They had no children of their own but shared their home with an adopted daughter." Alice Terry Elementary School in the Sheridan School District No. 2 (Sheridan, Colorado) is named for Alice B. Terry. In 1973 the park bordering Alice Terry Elementary was also named in her honor.

"Of these two honors [the school and park]" Mrs. Terry said, "It is such a fine climax to my memories which are very precious and the love for boys and girls and their welfare, and for a better life will always be my greatest wish." (Hidden Heroine, page 2)

Alice Terry passed away on August 12, 1976 in Swedish Medical Center. She is buried in Golden Cemetery in Golden, Colorado next to her husband Grant Terry. Grant passed away in 1996. Alice is survived by her adopted daughter Bonnie Schofield.

The Principals

Chapter 5

Isabelle Claire Bogard Murphy (nee Willox)
Principal 1958-1961

June 25, 1902 – February 28, 1992 (89)

Isabelle Claire Willox was born on June 25, 1902 in Fort Collins, Colorado. She was the daughter of Charles S. Willox and Helene M. Michand, the second of six children. Her grandparents Frank and Auralia Michaud were early settlers in Fort Collins.

She attended grade school at the Michaud School in District #11 where the school house is an historic building and still stands today. She then graduated from Fort Collins High School.

Isabelle received a scholarship to attend Colorado Teachers College (University of Northern Colorado) in Greeley and received her Bachelor's Degree on June 6, 1923. She later obtained her Master's Degree in Art from the University of Colorado.

She married Frank V. Bogard on December 29, 1925 in Fort Collins and the couple moved to Denver where she was a teacher for over forty-eight years. Isabelle began teaching in Fort Logan District 75 in 1938. She was the first married woman teacher to be hired by the district.

Isabelle was the first principal of Alice Terry from 1958 through 1961. She retired as the principal of Maryville Elementary School in the mid-sixties, which was part of Sheridan School District No. 2.

Frank passed away on August 25, 1953 having served as a marine engineer at sea for eleven years. Isabelle and Frank had three children. Her youngest daughter died in 1949 at age 12. Isabelle's daughter Catherine had seven children and her son Charles had four children giving Isabelle a total of eleven grandchildren.

Isabelle married her second husband Derris Murphy in 1964 and toured Europe that year. Mr. Murphy passed away in 1967. Isabelle fully retired in 1969. After her retirement she started china painting and became a volunteer at Mercy Hospital.

Isabelle is buried at Mount Olivet Cemetery in Wheat Ridge with her first husband Frank and their daughter Donna.

Chapter 6

Lulu Glendole Tweten (nee Perkins)

1958 – 1987, Second Grade

March 22, 1929 – July 31, 2020 (91)

Lulu Glendole Perkins was born on March 22, 1929 to Raleigh W. Perkins and Lulu Glendall Hanks in rural eastern North Dakota. Glendole was the first of three children with sister Mary born in North Dakota and another sister Phyllis born in Minnesota. Raleigh, Lulu, and Glendole are shown in the 1930 census in Fargo, North Dakota.

Sometime before Glendole started school the family moved to area around Bagley, Minnesota. Glendole attended Mahnomen Secondary School southwest of Bagley while her mother taught at Erbo School west of Bagley. Glendole's father died in 1937 in Bagley, North Dakota. The family is shown on the 1940 census in Popple, Minnesota five miles west of Bagley with her mother and the three daughters.

Glendole studied Elementary Education at Bemidji State University which was then Bemidji State Teachers College. The college at that time had 458 students. In 2025 it serves almost 5,000 students. Glendole was found on the 1950 census in Solway, Minnesota (between Bagley and Bemidji) a boarder and "grade teacher [at] public schools."

On October 18, 1952 Glendole married her husband Stanley Bernard Tweten in Beltrami, Minnesota. Glendole had three children while in Beltrami from 1953 to 1956. In 1956 they lived in Bemidji east of Bagley.

The reason Stanley and Glendole relocated to Colorado between 1956 and 1958 is unknown. However, we know that three of the largest (out of eleven Indian Reservations) in Minnesota surrounded Bemidji, Minnesota. There were high demands for teachers in the area. However, "In 1950, female teachers in the Bemidji, Minnesota area faced significant challenges, including strict rules of conduct, marital status discrimination, unequal pay, and gender-specific workplace expectations." It was evident opportunities were better in Colorado. Of note was that Glendole's mother, also a teacher, moved out of the area and "moved to Oregon 1951 to finish her teaching career." Her mother only returned after retiring in 1965.

Glendole came to Alice Terry Elementary in the fall of 1958 and was one of the original teachers when the school first opened. She retired from Alice Terry and teaching in 1987. She put in twenty-nine years at Alice Terry out of her total of thirty-four years teaching.

After retirement Stanley and Glendole did twenty-seven plus years of RVing in both a fifth wheel and regular RV. In 2015 she said, "The last 26 years we have been traveling around this beautiful country of ours." Glendole was diagnosed with breast cancer in 2015 and battled for it for the remainder of her life.

Glendole wrote about her time at Alice Terry on Facebook. "A memory from my first year teaching at Alice Terry school. Many of the children went home for lunch (those were the days)." Another time "I went to let them in before the Halloween party and there stood a little black boy. I was ready to say, "You must be at the wrong door" and then realized he was one of mine. That mom had done a beautiful job."

And for her former students she said "This is for all my former students. Do you remember that on Feb. 2nd I always had you write a story "If I were a Ground Hog I would."

Glendole passed away on July 31, 2020, just four and half months after her husband Stanley. She is survived by her children: Stanley Jr (wife Deb); Todd Richard Tweten, and Ross Wesley Tweten (wife Alicia).

Student Memories

Steven Leal: I attended Alice B. Terry fall-spring 1963-1964 as a five year old kindergarten student, I remember my teacher a very grandmotherly figure Mrs. Adamson. She took us to the turkey farm on a field trip, we gathered feathers and made Indian bonnets for a Thanksgiving program in the gym. I remember the sand box right beneath the window of our classroom because I hit my head on the steel of an open window frame. My most vivid memory is the day President Kennedy was murdered, our teacher trying to conceal her tears putting black crepe paper on the American flag in our room.

Sherie Lehman: Even though I went to Sheridan schools from first to twelfth grade, I only attended Alice Terry in second grade in 1962 into 1963. I think the memory that will always stand out for me that year was the day that John F. Kennedy was assassinated and the impact that it had on the teachers and staff.

Scott Zuege: I moved there in 1964. Mrs. Card was my third grade teacher. Dwight Swinney was in our class. Kids that went home for lunch were let out a minute or so before those going to the lunchroom.. On that day, we marched down the hall to the lunchroom, but Dwight was in a group that had left a minute before. Unfortunately, he tripped running down the hall and hit the plate glass window adjacent to the exit doors. We had to march right by him as teachers administered to him as he lay on his back. Ambulance had been called but he was bleeding profusely from a dozen cuts to his face. I had never seen so much blood. Deep red blood and a lot of it. He returned to school a couple of weeks later but was scared. I quit running in the halls.

Sheri Gregory: Dan Telk was the principal at Alice Terry during the 1960's. Being his step-daughter, I heard many of your stories at our dinner table, attended numerous functions at your school and was asleep with my brother and sister in the nurse's office the night Mr. Telk opened the school for flood shelter in 1965. Yes, he had a wooden paddle in his office and yes, according to stories, he would use it.

William Cooper: Did not know that Mr. Telk was at Alice Terry, but he certainly was at Ora Oliver 1961 thru 1963. We all liked him a lot. He had one of those airhorns on a freon can and when he had come wheeling by the playground he would hold it out the window and let it rip. I always heard about the wooden paddle but never saw it.

Cheyrel Gosnell: I went to Alice Terry from Kindergarten through third grade. My favorite Teacher was Ms. Young, first grade, who got married in the middle of the year. I remember a bomb threat, and they sent us all home, I had to walk over two miles and across Federal Boulevard when I was only about eight years old. My parents freaked!

Barbara Ruppert: I liked going to Alice Terry. Dan Telk was my principal, and he was amazing. And not because he was good friends with my parents but because he cared.

Jeannie Jones: I attended Alice Terry in 1964 in kindergarten with Mrs. Adamson. I remember reading books behind the piano in her classroom. Does anyone remember Mrs. White reading us Charlotte's Web and her voice got high when she read the parts of Charlotte the Spider? My favorite childhood book! Fourth grade with Mrs. Hagge - I was good friends with her daughter Cindy, who passed away in 1992. Then Miss Gillespie, who I remember telling our class that she would be the toughest teacher we would ever have, but we would look back and thank her someday. She was tough and to this day I still remember her saying that and thank her for teaching us to be respectful ladies and gentlemen. Wonderful school and Mr. Telk was the best principal ever!

Sue Kaberline: I went to school there from K - 5 from 1963 - 1968. Mrs. Conn (sp.) [Kahn] in kindergarten. She passed away when my brother had her as a teacher in 1965. I do not remember my first grade teacher. Second grade was Mrs. Roberts. She was my favorite teacher at Alice Terry. I cleaned the black board erasers after class and then she would drive me the one-half block home. Mrs. White for third grade, Mrs. Hagge for fourth grade, and Mr. Vaglianti for fifth. Does anyone else remember the pointer stick he had with a jacks ball on the end of it? He would whack kids on the top of their head if they were acting up.

Patty Tsosie: I attended from 1970-1976. My favorite teacher was Mrs. Adams (Sherol Roy). My most memorable time was in fifth grade when we made the bicentennial quilt during our music time. That quilt is still on display. I show my own children my square when I see the quilt in Alice Terry's FB posts! My mom, Betty Slewitzke was the kitchen manager and cooked at Alice Terry! She came when I was in fifth grade, it was so cool to have my mom at school!

Patti Ahrendt Moore: I have seen the changes. I miss the sandbox next to the kindergarten classroom. Many memories. The big kid playground. The little kid playground. But they changed it all.

Bill Quintrall: I went to fifth grade there in 1970 and lived at what was the new homes on Dill Road one block away. Miss Gillispie was the teacher remember the lunch room was in the gym grades 3 thru five was the north wing.

Greg Miller: I remember on the first Earth Day in 1970 that they took all us students at Alice Terry outside and we picked up trash in what was at that time a vacant lot north of the school. It was a small act, but something that has stuck with me all these years. I appreciate the admin and teachers at the school who made that happen. Does anyone else have any memories of that or other Earth Days?

Kristin Hargett: I attended 1977-1982. I had a lot of favorites, but Margie Jackson was my all time favorite. I had her in first and again in third grade. I used to come back and grade papers even after I left for the military. Had two principals Mr. Gordon and Mr. Watkins who died - still have his death announcement. Ralph was one of the janitors. He was so much fun.

Sarah Grover: I went there from third to fifth grade. My third grade teacher was Mrs. Jackson, fourth was Mrs. Pennington. I remember when our gym teacher passed away [Ronald Keefe, October 10, 1979]. I had Mrs. Paraschos for band. I remember later when we were in middle school that we scraped Alice Terry and got it ready to paint for money for a band trip.

Sherol Roy (Faculty): When I was teaching at Alice Terry, we had a merry-go-round in the front. A girl was on it spinning around and laughing and had her lunch money in her mouth. She swallowed it and choked. She stumbled over to me, blue in the face, I performed the Heimlich maneuver, and she spit out the quarter and promptly threw up on my shoes, lol. I had to go barefoot all day. Wish I could remember her name. I taught at Alice Terry from 1970-1977. I taught fifth grade; fourth grade and 5 years in third grade. I had a lot of wonderful kids and memories from my time there.
